The Insight: Patrick offers the perfect lively addition to your next event! His sharp observations of everyday life and wonderfully vivid characterizations will have your group relating and laughing together.

The Offerings: Patrick specializes in customized corporate performances. He can emcee your company's next awards banquet, appear at promotional events, shareholder's meetings, corporate retreats, holiday parties, you name it. If there's an event that's in danger of being ordinary, send Patrick in.

The Preparation: The man does his homework. Once a booking is scheduled, Patrick will meet with you personally to gain a clear understanding of your organization, intended audience and goals of the event. With this information, he'll find what's funny.

The Audience: Patrick's show is appropriate and appealing for anyone in need of a good laugh. He can turn a crowd of strangers into a gathering of friends. He creates an atmosphere of fun that sparks imagination and gives people something to laugh and think about long after he's gone.

The Show: Usually 45-60 minutes. His performance is designed to meet and exceed your company's expectations.

The Essentials: Patrick doesn't require special equipment. Just give him a hand-held mike with stand, a sound system that's suitable to the performance space, and he's ready to go. Emcee engagements may require a podium and clip-on microphone.

The Travel Radius: Based in Bay Village, Ohio, Patrick can and does travel anywhere. His performances have taken him throughout the U.S. and Canada.

The References: Patrick has hundreds of delighted clients; he'll be happy to provide you with references.

The Results: Increased morale. A fresh perspective. Enhanced internal communication. Patrick's entertainment is more than a wonderful diversion; it actually promotes wellness and reinvigorates the audience.

The Next Step: Call and see if your date is available!
